PDFs

To view and use PDF files, you will need a PDF reader. Adobe's FREE Acrobat Reader is very easy to use and many computers already have this software on their system. You can also find and download the free software through Adobe's website at <https://get.adobe.com/reader/>. Other PDF readers are available such as Preview on Mac. The files are password protected against editing and extracting, so you will be unable to open them in an editing programme such as Adobe Photoshop or Illustrator.

Printing Tips:

Make sure you have enough ink, and your printer heads are aligned and clean.

Printing Directions:

Heavy white cardstock is recommended for most PDF printables. These files can be printed at home, or at a professional printing shop.

For best results when printing from a home computer, it is EXTREMELY IMPORTANT to reset your "Printer Properties" to "Best" quality, and choose the paper source "Cardstock" or "Thick Paper". This bypasses the default printer settings that are set to conserve ink, and allows for a vibrant print. Always print at "Actual Size" or "100%". Many home printers do not print edge to edge, and may leave a small white edge around the paper.

Assembly:

Please carefully cut out each section and keep sharp objects and choking hazards away from children. This activity pack is designed to be cut out by an adult, however older children with good scissor control may enjoy assembling it themselves. You can write on the markers and place them on the map. You can also make your own coloured key.

Recycling:

We have left plenty of space around the parts to ensure there is enough room to cut them out without cutting into the sections and labels themselves, and also to make sure the margins fit a wide range of home printers. Please recycle your Map Activity Kit when you have finished playing with it.
